

NEWLYWEDS RECEIVE MANY FINE GIFTS

Mr. and Mrs. Eric Edmonston,
Married at Food Show,
Showered With Presents.

A motor truck and a couple of regular autos used for the small stuff were called into service at Convention Hall to take to the residence of Eric Edmonston and his bride, who was Miss Alice E. Ashby, in Georgetown, the wedding gifts showered on them last night at the national food show just after they had been declared man and wife by the Rev. John R. Esau in the presence of all the exhibitors and the largest crowd that has yet gathered in the big hall.

The food show wedding and the food show bride and groom formed the most attractive feature. Manager Perry Patrick has provided for the big show according to the count at the door. Just how many people came in through the turnstiles even the expert ticket takers cannot estimate, but from the jam that filled the floor from the time doors were opened in the evening until long after the wedding party had departed in gayly decorated automobiles, there was hardly an inch of space that was not occupied by a man or woman or both. And some of the booths were utilized as grandstands, from which to witness the big ceremony, people climbing on the counters and stands to get a clear view of the bride and groom.

The wedding ceremony was celebrated at 8:30 o'clock, in the bandstand over the main entrance. The procession formed at the south end of the hall with the bride and bridegroom in front, followed by the best man, George Edmonston, and the maid of honor, Miss Anna Miller.

The wedding march from "Lohengrin" was played by Pistorio's Band. Two little flower girls, Misses Margaret Kirby and Grace Tolbert, led the procession around the hall, the bride and bridegroom followed by a dainty and brightly clad cupid, impersonated by little Miss Theresa Shaffer, and a page, who was Master Fred Dodge, Jr.

The wedding ceremony was followed by a reception at which there was to be a reception, but the crowd was so thick that only those nearest the happy pair were able to give them greetings. Manager Patrick has the distinction of having been the first to kiss the bride, being ahead of the groom in that particular and bringing down on his head the envy of the multitude of men in the crowd. The couple passed the evening at the show, visiting each of the booths under the escort of Mr. Patrick and the other members of the wedding party.

The gifts of the food show management and the exhibitors, including practically everything that can be useful in the house, were piled in a big booth decorated for the purpose. There have been few newlyweds in the District who have received such a mass of useful gifts, and remark was made that a grocery bill will not worry the Edmonston family for many weeks, so generous were the merchants and manufacturers represented at the show in their presents.

Today at noon the members of the Rotary Club of Washington were the guests of the show at a luncheon. Arrangements were made to entertain 500. Tonight is "Mother's Night" at the food show. Every woman in the District who is a mother is to be the guest of the management, and the efforts of the exhibitors are to be directed toward showing not only the manner in which babies and children should be fed, but how the mother's work about the house may be made lighter. Several of the exhibitors are to give special souvenirs for the evening.

Suffrage Organizations To Hold Joint Meeting

H. Martin Williams, reading clerk of the House, is to be the principal speaker at a meeting tonight of local suffrage organizations in commemoration of the 10th anniversary of the birth of Elizabeth Cady Stanton, pioneer woman suffragist, in Carroll Institute Hall, 914 Tenth street. The organizations which will participate in the mass meeting are the State Equal Suffrage Association, the Washington Woman Suffrage Council, the Stanton Club, and the College Equal Suffrage League.

Mrs. Helen H. Gardner and Miss Emma M. Gilt will give reminiscences of the life of Elizabeth Cady Stanton, and Mrs. Frank Hiram Smith will relate some incidents of the New Jersey campaign.

An attractive musical program has been arranged. Those who will contribute are Edward P. McCarthy, of Petworth, and his three sons, who will give selections on the piano, cornet, violin, xylophone, and other instruments, and Dr. Clinton, of Clark, who will lead in the singing. Mrs. Janie F. Brockett will play the accompaniment.

Miss Mary O'Toole, president of the State Equal Suffrage Association, will preside.

D. C. N. G. ABSENTEES FACE COURT-MARTIAL

Several Arrests Already Have Been Made and Additional Warrants Issued.

District National Guardsmen who have been accustomed to "cutting" drill with the same carelessness that they might show in staying away from church are finding themselves face to face with court-martial proceedings. Several arrests have been made already and it is understood that additional warrants have been issued.

When a member of the guard has not attended drill for three months he is liable to discipline, and the attendance records are being gone over closely, and every citizen-soldier's performance is being scrutinized.

"Oh, no; it's nothing unusual," said Major Castner, U. S. A., who was detailed as adjutant general of the guard by the War Department last May. "It's just a military rule, and we are trying to live up to it. I don't know how well it has been enforced in the past, but I have an idea it is going to be in active service in the future. We are not going to work the men too hard, but they ought to come out to drill."

The sentences of those whose cases have been tried have not been made public.

MAMMA! GIVE A CASCARET QUICK, LOOK AT TONGUE

Don't you see your child is bilious, feverish, sick, constipated?

Relieve little stomach, liver and bowels with candy cathartic.

Little, peevish, feverish, drooping. Little stomach sick, breath sour and tongue coated. Mamma, you must act now or your little one will be real sick soon. Get a 10-cent box of Cascarets at the drug store, give a whole Cascaret any time. Cascarets are harmless and children love this candy cathartic which stimulates the little liver, cleans the thirty feet of tender bowels and sweetens the poor, sick stomach in a few hours.

Mothers know that Cascarets act and act thoroughly and that they cure the little folks right up. Cascarets is best laxative for men, women and children. They never gripe or sicken.—Advt.
